

AI in Immigration Law

Live Online Course

AMERICAN IMMIGRATION LAWYERS ASSOCIATION

Charity Anastasio is Practice and Ethics Counsel for the American Immigration Lawyers Association's Practice & Professionalism Center. Charity had a law firm in Washington state for five years before she found her passion in helping lawyers better manage their firms and careers. She brings transformative energy and inspiration to AILA members on ethics and practice management issues by using one-on-one consultations, publications, presentations, and collaboration with AILA's Ethics Committee, Lawyer Well-Being Committee, Tech and Innovation Committee, and Practice Management Interest Group. Charity is in leadership in the ABA Law Practice Division. She was named an ABA 2020

Women in Legal Tech Honoree.

Juan José (JJ) Amell is a dedicated trademark and business-based immigration lawyer. He founded the Amell Law Firm, PLLC, providing legal services throughout the United States from the Spring/Woodlands area of Texas. Specializing in protecting brands and intellectual property rights, JJ assists businesses, investors, professionals, and individuals in need of business visas. He pursued international relations at American University and earned his law degree from St. Mary's University School of Law.

Michele N. Carney is an attorney in Seattle Washington, with a focus on removal defense and ethics. She is the Chair of the AILA Innovation Technology Committee and is also past chair/member of the AILA Ethics Committee. Michele also is currently on the Legal Technology Task force, Committee for Professional Ethics, Adjunct Disciplinary Counsel and Character and Fitness Board and has been a past member of the Practice of Law Board for the Washington State Bar Association.

James P. Chesser is the owner of Chesser & Associates, P.C. a boutique practice which for 30 years has focused on issues of global migration and international law related to entertainment, sports, and tech startups launched both in and outside the U.S. In addition to varied DHS and consular cases, he has assisted clients with strategic planning relative to international taxation and transfer pricing, IP management, risk assessment, and customs. He holds advanced degrees in Electrical Engineering and Physics as well as law and has patents pending in domain-specific AI and neural network technology. He is also co-founder of the AI startup initiative BorderBrain.com. James currently Chairs AILA's

AI in Immigration Law Online Course Committee and serves on the DOS Liaison, and Technology Innovation Committees. He is a past Chair of AILA's Online Course Content Review Committee and a recipient of the 2023-24 President's Commendation Award.

Carolyn Elefant is a legal entrepreneur and the founder of the Law offices of Carolyn Elefant (LOCE). She has distinguished herself as a formidable expert in renewable energy development, landowner rights and eminent domain. Her practice encompasses a broad spectrum, including energy regulatory work, litigation, jury trials, appeals and mediation.

Carolyn is also at the forefront of technological innovation. She believes in harnessing technology to elevate the delivery of legal services and has been an advocate for the adoption of cloud computing, artificial intelligence, and other modern technologies in legal practice. Carolyn is a graduate of Cornell Law School and a former attorney-advisor at FERC.

Michael A. Harris is a Florida Bar Board Certified Specialist in Immigration and Nationality Law based in Miami, Florida. He is the managing attorney at HARRISLAW, a law firm centered on business and investment-based immigration law. Most of his representation involves matters in the EB-5 Program for individual investors, regional centers, and developers who have sought to raise EB-5 capital in a variety of industries in over a dozen states. He has been awarded an AV Preeminent Peer Rating from Martindale-Hubbell; a Top EB-5 Immigration Lawyer by EB5Investors Magazine; and listed in Best Lawyers and Chambers and Partners. Michael is a past Florida Bar vice-chair of the board certification committee on Immigration and Nationality Law and has served as a member of the executive committee and board of directors of AILA South Florida. He is currently a member of AILA National's Tech and Innovation committee and past member of AILA's EB-5 committee. Michael received his Juris Doctor degree from Nova Southeastern University in Ft. Lauderdale in 2007. He earned his bachelor's in political science and English from the University of Florida, and attended The George Washington University for two years in Washington, D.C.

Priyanka Kulkarni is the Founder & CEO of Casium, an expedited immigration tech company that partners with legal experts, backed by the AI2 Incubator. Priyanka has over a decade of experience leading applied research teams at Microsoft Azure AI, MS Office, and Bing Ads. She was recently instrumental in growing Azure's Natural Language Generation, Processing, and Understanding service offerings in partnership with OpenAI. She brings a strong academic foundation to her work, holding a Master's degree in Computer Science from the University of Washington and a Master's in Applied Computational Mathematics from Johns Hopkins University. To give back, Priyanka is a mentor in the Big Brother Big Sister's MentorU program, dedicated to helping high school students recognize their greatest potential.

Emily Maxim Lamm is an associate in the Washington, D.C. office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher. Her practice is focused on artificial intelligence (AI), employment, and privacy matters. Emily has been recognized in Super Lawyers as a Washington DC "Rising Star" in 2024, the 2024 edition of Best Lawyers: Ones to Watch® in America for Labor and Employment Law – Management, and the 2024 Lawdragon 500 X – The Next Generation. She has also been appointed as a Member of the American Bar Association's (ABA) AI Task Force for 2024-2025 and serves on the Advisory Council of the Vanderbilt AI Law Lab (VAILL).

Leveraging her deep knowledge of rapidly evolving AI-related laws, regulations, and frameworks, Emily helps companies develop a strategic and practical approach to crafting and implementing AI policies, programs, and legal risk mitigation strategies. Emily has worked directly with a leading cloud service provider to develop an international compliance plan for cutting-edge AI and machine-learning tools, including large language models. She has also advised AI developers and deployers across industries regarding compliance with federal, state, and international AI, employment, and data protection laws. Emily is a thought leader in this space, regularly speaking and writing on AI issues.

Thomas G. Martin is CEO and Founder of LawDroid. He is a notable Legal AI Author, Speaker, and recognized as an ABA Legal Rebel and Fastcase 50. As a practicing lawyer, Thomas experienced the challenges of a time-constrained profession, leading him to establish LawDroid to help lawyers increase productivity and automate routine tasks. Since 2020, he has co-founded American Legal Technology, a grassroots organization aiming to transform the legal industry through innovation and technology, fostering a more just society. Holding the role of CEO/President at Foresight Legal Group, P.C. since 2006, Thomas has driven the firm's use of technology to provide affordable, high-quality legal services. Additionally, he is an active member of the Technology Innovation Committee at ARAG Legal and an advisor for the ATJ Tech Fellows Program, furthering his commitment to legal innovation and accessibility.

Eric Martínez is the Dickerson Fellow & Instructor in Law at the University of Chicago Law School. He holds a PhD in Cognitive Science from MIT and JD from Harvard Law School. Eric's research investigates the intersection of law, language, cognition, and AI, including how humans and machines understand and interpret law, and the implications of these findings for legal doctrine and policy. Eric's work has been published in Georgetown Law Journal and the Journal of Experimental Psychology. He has received numerous awards, including the APA Editor's Choice Award and the Ig Nobel Prize in Literature, for his work explaining what makes legal documents so challenging to comprehend. In addition to his academic pursuits, Eric is a licensed attorney in Massachusetts and is fluent in English and Spanish.

Julie C. Pearl is the President of the Pearl-Colman Foundation and a former Deputy Attorney General in California. Julie founded her award-winning firm in 1995, along with Alan Nelson, the former head of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service under Presidents Reagan and Bush Sr. Within three years, she developed ImmigrationTracker®, the immigration management system now used by over 70% of top immigration law firms who buy case management software (according to IndUS Business Journal and American Lawyer Media). Julie won a Cisco Systems Growing with Technology Award (Customer Service Category) and was profiled in the book The Moral Advantage, Getting Ahead in Business by Doing the Right Thing (Stanford University Project on Good Works) for applying the "Golden Rule" to her clients' needs.

She has authored several legal publications, including chapters and articles on U.S. and global immigration topics and corporate compliance. She also contributed to Inside the Minds: Leading Executives on Creating a Leadership Plan, Evaluating Risks, and Managing Cyclical Growth. She is admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of California, all Federal courts and the United States Court of International Trade. A founding member of the Alliance of Business Immigration Lawyers (ABIL) and former Vice Chair of the American Bar Association's Immigration Subcommittee. Julie earned her BA at Stanford University, MPA from Harvard University, and JD from the University of California, Hastings Law School.

Catherine Sanders Reach is Director for the Center for Practice Management at the North Carolina Bar Association, providing practice technology and management assistance to lawyers and legal professionals. Formerly she was Director, Law Practice Management and Technology for the Chicago Bar Association and the Director at the American Bar Association's Legal Technology Resource Center. Prior to her work at the NCBA, CBA and ABA she worked in library and information science environments for several years, working at Ross and Hardies as a librarian. She received a master's degree in library and information studies from the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa in 1997.

Elina Magaly Santana is an immigration attorney at Santana Rodriguez Law, a firm based in Miami, FL with clients nationwide. She focuses her immigration practice on removal defense, waivers, family and marriage-based residency, and asylum. Elina is a past chapter chair of AILA South Florida. She also serves on AILA national's USCIS Case Assistance Committee, Annual Conference Planning Committee, and the newly formed AI Online Course Planning Committee. Elina is a Board Member for Capital Good Fund, one of the administrators of the wildly popular "Nerdy Immigration Lawyers" Facebook group and manages 20+ immigration specific NIL WhatsApp mentoring groups containing thousands of attorneys nationwide. Elina frequently speaks at conferences on substantive areas of immigration law and teaches trial skills at several events nationwide. Elina earned her JD from Boston University (BU) School of Law and her BA in both Sociology and Spanish Literature at New York University (NYU) with high honors. She is a fluent Spanish speaker and was raised in Miami, FL by a proud Cuban American immigrant family.

Gregory (Greg) Howard Siskind is an immigration lawyer and a legal technology company founder. He started Siskind Susser, his immigration law firm, in 1994, and Visalaw Ventures, his software and book publishing company, in 2015. He is a former AILA Board of Governors member and the current Vice Chair of the International Bar Association's Immigration and Nationality Law Committee. Greg is the author of seven books, including the 4000-page AILA "Cookbook". He launched the inaugural immigration law website in 1994, followed by the first law blog in 1998. His foray into AI began in 2015, culminating in the launch of Gen with AILA in January 2024. His contributions have earned him AILA's Advocacy Award and its inaugural Technology Award as well as the ABA's James E. Keane Award for e-Lawyering. He's also a co-founder of IMMpact Litigation, specializing in mass immigration litigation.

Reid F. Trautz is Senior Director of the AILA Practice & Professionalism Center, where he advises lawyers how to improve their businesses and innovate the delivery of legal services to their clients. He is a nationally recognized advisor, author and presenter on practice issues, including launching a law practice, business process innovation, law practice technology, and legal ethics.

He is a past chair of ABA TECHSHOW, the legal profession's premier technology conference, and has been a member of that faculty for more than 14 years. Today he serves as Co-Chair of the ABA Law Practice Division Futures Initiative and co-authors the Future Proofing column for the ABA's Law Practice magazine. He also currently serves as co-chair of the Virginia Bar Technology and Future of Practicing Law Committee.

Reid is an elected Fellow of the College of Law Practice Management. In 2012 he was honored in the sophomore class of the Fastcase 50, recognizing innovators in legal technology. He is also a member of the Association of Professional Responsibility Lawyers.

Tina Zedginidze is an immigration attorney and the co-founder and COO of CaseBlink, a venture-backed company providing AI-powered solutions to streamline writing-intensive immigration cases. Prior to CaseBlink, she practiced immigration law in the San Francisco Bay Area, specializing in business immigration law. She represented a variety of clientele from startups to medium and Fortune 500 corporations in various industries. Tina earned her JD from the University of Minnesota, where she also completed her undergraduate studies with a focus in Psychology and Mass Communication. She is passionate about immigration law and the use of innovative technology to improve legal practice and client representation.

Monica Zent is an experienced entrepreneur, investor, business strategist, legal industry innovator, and trusted advisor to the world's largest brands. Monica is also a successful inventor who holds various patents. She is the founder & CEO of ZentLaw, a leading alternative legal services provider in the United States that formed ZentLaw Labs to drive the development and adoption of innovative legal technologies in the marketplace. She is the founder of LawDesk360, an AI-powered workflow collaboration technology for legal departments and firms. Prior to that she founded Foxwordy, a popular social networking platform for the legal industry.

A prominent thought leader and public speaker, Monica regularly writes for various publications on topics spanning from entrepreneurship and leadership to futurism and emerging technology. Her articles appear in publications including Bloomberg BNA, Reuters, Inside Counsel, Entrepreneur, Inc., Legal Technology News, VentureBeat, and Huffington Post. Monica has spoken before various audiences within and outside the legal industry, from venture capital-sponsored demo days to LegalTech events and various legal industry conferences, including South by Southwest, the International Bar Association, the Legal Marketing Association and more.